SOLUTIONS FOR HIGHER EDUCATION MANAGEMENT

Virtual Clicker

Interwrite Learning (formerly GTCO CalComp) has released Interwrite Virtual PRS, software that eliminates the need for a special radio frequency clicker for instant classroom assessment. Students install the software on their computer or Windows-based PDA (but not cell phones). It works on wired, wireless and remote systems, so it is an option for distance learning students as well. Education pricing is $29 per user, but an introductory promotion allows free usage through July 1. Download it at www.interwritelearning.com. The company has also released Interwrite 3.0 software for Mac. The software is compatible with the company's full Interwrite Interactive Classroom product line. New features include support for Interwrite PRS sessions, compatibility with the company's new wide-format Interwrite School-Board, additional pictures for the image gallery, and support for a multi-color gradient-style pen. Existing users can download their free upgrade in the Tech Support section at www.interwritelearning.com.
